

Asia Awareness Associate 簡稱 AAA 俱樂部 是由 Hathaway Brown 女子學校的陸穎 (Diana Lu) 葛愛麗 (Emily Gudranson) 史可妮 (Claire Ashmead) 在 2008 年組成的。這是一隻精幹、高效的國際組合。她們分工明確,目標清晰,吃苦耐勞,幾年來在弘揚亞洲,特別是中國文化為百年老校 Hathaway Brown 成功地增添了一筆新的樂章,同時也受到了學校領導、老師、同學們的廣泛稱讚。卓越的組織領導能力,精心設計的活動安排,不計報酬的義工在美國這片土地上都給我們年輕一代的高中生們樹立了楷模。加油吧孩子們! 未來是你們的。作為一名看着你們成長的過來的教師,我由衷地為你們感到欣慰和自豪。(HB 中文教師 胡小川)

When I was young, I learned to crave experiencing the unknown by sitting in front of television on a red shag carpet on Saturday mornings and watching National Geographic specials. These shows opened up whole new worlds to me, revealing how ordinary and extraordinary people led lives so different from my own. They sparked in me an interest that was fed and encouraged by reading book after book, by hearing the tales of the international travelers who visited my childhood home, and by the teachers and professors who influenced my life.

As the Director of the Center for Global Citizenship at Hathaway Brown, I help students realize the joy in discovering the diverse, interesting, and amazing people and places that make up our world. In many ways, my whole life has let me to this position.

I've spent years traveling the globe and studying international relations and politics. Together, the more than 50 countries I've visited tell a story. Some chapters are exciting (Thailand), some comforting (Switzerland), some will remain stamped in my memory forever (Yemen, East Timor, Laos), and other remind me of how little I know about how short life really is (Uzbekistan).

There are places, such as Indonesia and Italy, that have called me back time and time again because of the wonderful experiences I've had there. And there are others, such as Russia, that have continually beckoned for me just to try to figure them out. girls and I are very much looking forward to the In my travels, I've voyage we'll make to China in 2013.

向世界展示HB

這位 Joseph Vogel,他是 HB 管理全球公民中心主任,他為這次 HB 舉辦中國新年活動忙里忙外,無意間得知他為 HB 走訪過 60 個國家,他去講課,他去介紹 HB 這所百年學校,他的希望是告訴全世界人們:在美國在克里夫蘭有這麼一所女子學校,這群女生接受最好最先進的教育,學校培養的學生在國際上全面發展,更重要的是 HB 有許多為教育奉獻的老師。

Over the years, I've learned that I feel most are places that look alive when I'm the accepted guest in a place best during certain where little can be called familiar, and when I'm months or seasons in the classroom teaching what I love. Too often, (you really should we know too little about the diversity of the see Germany in world, the roots of conflict, the importance of alliances, and the work of intergovernmental and nongovernmental organizations. I want to help that good friends girls learn and experience enough to be the com like the ones I have in Vietnam and passionately and informed citizens our world so desperately needs.

HB students will graduate in an era of globalization, and it is my goal that the Center for Global Citizenship prepares them for the immense challenges and rewarding opportunities that lie ahead. I'm thrilled to be their tour guide for the first part of what promises to be an incredible journey.
